

NBO Code of Conduct

Your organisation is invited to show its agreement to this code of conduct.

Please return it to the Treasurer with the other form when you renew your organisation's membership.

As members of the Network of Buddhist Organisations (UK) for the coming year:

We agree to promote the aims of the Network of Buddhist Organisations (UK) aims which are:

- a) To promote fellowship and dialogue between Buddhist Organisations.
- b) To facilitate cooperation in matters of common interest.
- c) To work in harmony with Buddhist and other like minded organisations throughout the world.

In order to maintain harmony and promote Buddhist teachings in the UK, as a Buddhist organisation and member of the NBO we undertake the following:

- a) To observe the ethical principles exemplified by the Five Precepts in all our activities.
- b) To undertake that our members will not defame each other's organisations or teachers in public or through the media.
- c) That every effort will be made to resolve any disagreements that might arise within our organisations, or with other organisations or groups, through our internal processes or through private discussion and mediation.
